

BIOLOGY

MERSEYSIDE LABOUR MARKET

Studying Biology develops many far-reaching skills that are transferable to industries and sectors both within and outside of the scientific fields. Consider the development of skills in collaboration, computing, data analysis, project management and business awareness. Consider careers in global health, charities and outreach organisations. Biology, a branch of science that deals with living organisms and their vital processes. The average Biomedical Engineer salary in Liverpool is £40,316 per year, ranging from £26,000 to £57,585. The average salary of a Medical Practitioner in East Merseyside is currently £53,800 per year and Midwives can earn on average £29,800 annually.

LABOUR MARKET

56,354

People approx. are employed in careers that make use of biology across Merseyside

17,013

Care workers and home carers

26,750

Nurses and midwives

9,611

Medical and dental practitioners

2,980

Biological scientists and biochemists

OTHER SECTORS

Health and social care and healthcare technologies
Renewable energy and the environment
Advanced manufacturing and engineering
Education and training